

FINE GAME BY GIANTS

Fielded and Batted Well
Against Plattsburg.

TAKING GAME, SCORE 6 TO 2

"Cy" Morey Pitched Winning Ball and
If It Hadn't Been for the Umpire
He Would Have Scored a Shut Out.

The Giants had their eyes on the ball yesterday afternoon and with Morey pitching excellent ball defeated Plattsburg on the Intercity grounds 6 to 2, thereby tying the New Yorkers for first position again in the Northern league. Nine clean swats for a total of fifteen bases constituted the cause for the visitors' undoing, stalling Barberick having nothing up his sleeve this time, while Morey had the opposing batters guessing most of the time. Only four of their seven hits were clean, except that two were clean gifts by Umpire Ready. And by the way this Ready gives more dissatisfaction the more he umpires. Both sides were roasted, but the Intercity got the severest burns. Twice he called two of Hildebrand's swats safe when to the crowd they appeared a long ways foul. Once was in the fourth inning and the decision was the means of Plattsburg's scoring its two runs.

It was an entirely different game that the Giants put up over their last performance with Burlington, not the least semblance of an error being made unless Morey's failure to hold McDonnell's savage grounder could be counted. But the ball was cutting such a clip that it goes down as a hit rather than as an error. "Cy" fielded his position well, besides striking out eleven New Yorkers. Stankard again put himself in the limelight by a splendid stop of a hot grounder off Cosgrave's bat far over toward first base and by a quick throw to first while on the run.

There was nothing dark in sight and Apperious went back into right field. Sam signalled his return by doing great work both at the bat and in the field. In four times at the bat he rapped out three safe hits. One of them for three bases, scoring Dorman in the fifth, was about the longest hit ever seen on the grounds. The ball sailed into left field. Cote saw it coming and went back. He thought he had got far enough and stopped to receive it. But he had misjudged. Again he started back and after running quite a distance turned, only to see the ball go sailing over his head. Apperious easily made third base. McDonnell, Plattsburg's short stop, had a lot of work out and did it well.

The Giants started off with a score in the second. Eaton drew a cheap base, and Shaughnessy got first on Bottemus' error. Stankard was safe on a fielder's choice, Shaughnessy dying at second and Morey, Cosgrave dying at second and Burns, scoring on third. Burns slammed the ball to Burns and Eaton crossed the plate while Burns was out at first. Morey flied to Hildebrand. Another came easily in the third when with one down Dorman got a hit to right center, his second of the game, getting second. Apperious sent him along to third by a sacrifice to McDonnell, and then McMahon bit one off for a single. "Mac" tried to stretch it into a double and was out, but Dorman scored.

Plattsburg and the umpire tied the score in the fourth. Morey presented his only gift to Cosgrave. Cote tried to sacrifice, and Dorman came in for it. He picked it up cleanly and would have had a double play started, but Stankard left second uncovered. When Dorman turned to catch Cote it was too late. Then Hildebrand plunked one foul and the umpire called it fair. The Giants put up a vain kick. Cosgrave scored on the play. Morey got busy then and fanned Bottemus and Wells but McDonnell pounded a grounder so sharply at him that he couldn't hold it, and Cote scored. Cooper performed the second of his three strikeouts in three times up.

The locals broke the tie in the next inning scoring two on a base on balls to Dorman, Apperious' three-bagger and a wild pitch by Barberick. They made one more in the sixth when George Eaton swung so viciously on the ball that it disappeared over the right center fence. Morey also worked in a hit in this inning, but without result. Apperious scored the last tally in the seventh when he beat out a grounder to short, stole second and crossed the plate when Wells made a miserable miff of Eaton's fly.

All this time the New Yorkers were chasing rainbows or running foot races to first base and then to the bench. They looked a bit dangerous in the ninth, when, after Cote had flied to right, Hildebrand was allowed another hit on a ball that was apparently outside the third base line, followed by a single by Bottemus. But Wells and McDonnell were easy propositions for Morey.

NOTES OF THE GAME.

The smallest crowd of the season. The 250 people looked lost in the grand stand and on the bleachers.

Scrappy Cosgrave, Plattsburg's right fielder, was represented by Brother "Wally". The latter is the man who got up the Plattsburg bunch this year, and must be given credit for scraping together a fast aggregation. "Wally's" month was as large sized as ever, however, and the sounds emitted therefrom were as nasal.

There wasn't a black spot in Sam Apperious' eye yesterday.

Cooper, who caught for the New Yorkers, would be in the big leagues, so it is said, if it were not for a weak foot. Cooper is a speedy catcher.

Umpire Ready may sleep well, but he wouldn't if he had to sleep on a pillow of uncomplimentary things said about him. They were hard.

The Intercity are taking turns depositing the horseshoe over the fence. Next!

While Ashmore was laboring to beat out a bunt a fair remark that it was a shame to make him work so hard, and her less fair companion was put to it to explain that "Ruth" doesn't mind work.

Shaughnessy covers several acres of territory.

Barberick's smile is a captivating thing. When Eaton slammed the ball over the fence for a homer he looked ruefully at the fence for a time, and then the smile came back as he reached for another ball.

BURLINGTON WON.

Bunched Hits Off Doerscher—Wiggs Pitched Fine Game.

Burlington, July 11.—Paddy Duff's Indians got theirs again at Burlington yesterday afternoon when the champions defeated them at Athletic Park by a score of 4 to 3. The game, the snappiest and shortest played here this year, was characterized by fine fielding on both sides. Wiggs pitched a fine game, allowing four hits and striking out ten men. He also made a three-bagger to deep center. Doerscher was steady as a rule but was hit hard at critical times.

Burlington scored after this manner. In the third, Skelley reached first on a single and scored on Wiggs's triple, after Brennan was out for trying to bunt a third strike. Dowd tried to stretch his single into a two-bagger and was out at second, Wiggs scoring. Deiminger walked and Matthew flew out to left. In the sixth, Boucher's fumble, Matty's two-bagger, and Hazelton's single gave the champs two more.

Rutland tallied in the seventh when Duff drew a pass, stole second, reached third on Dolan's out and scored on Boucher's hit. Again in the eighth, O'Hara got a lift by Dowd's fumble. Ray was hit with the ball, and after Duff struck out both these players stole a base. Dowd made another fumble of Dolan's grounder and O'Hara and Ray scored.

"LITTLE CY" YOUNG IN BOX

Hub-ites Bunched Their Hits and Won
Out in Early Part of the Game—
Boston American Hindered
By Rain.

Boston, July 11.—With "Little Cy" in the box the Bostonians defeated the fast Quakers yesterday afternoon by the score of 3 to 2, and that in spite of the fact that the home team played the more ragged game in the field. The Hub-ites bunched their hits in good style off Corridon.

Each team scored a run in the second inning, the visitors on Magee's single to center, Cannell's error in letting the ball get by him and Bransfield's hit. The Boston got theirs on Wolverton's being hit by the ball, Cannell's sacrifice, Raymer's out and Moran's hit through Krueger's legs.

The home team tallied twice in the next inning, enough times to win the game. Batty double to the left field fence, Tenney bunted and was safe. Dolan hit to the fence and Batty scored. Tenney by fast work moved along to third. Delahanty fouled out, and when Wolverton hit to Corridon Tenney was caught at the plate. Wolverton stole second and on the catcher's wild throw to third Dolan scored. Cannell was out to Gleason.

The Quaker's last score came in the sixth. Thomas singled to center, and out by Gleason and Courtney and Titus' single sent him in.

"BILL" BROWN ROASTED.

A Rutland Newspaper Doesn't Take
Kindly to Bill.

Umpire "Bill" Brown, formerly of this city gets roasted by the Rutland Herald in the following manner:

Every man on the local and visiting team is deserving of creditable mention for one thing if nothing else—the self-control shown in their behavior toward the umpire, who for ignorance, indecision and incompetency would have been hard to beat. Not a rude hand was laid upon him by either side, although had the players followed the urgent pleading of the bleachers, there would not have been enough left of that official for the sun to brown in its scorching progress yesterday. After the first bomb exploded by him, when he called Cotter out for not touching first base, he was readily able to perceive that there were others on the grounds more popular than himself. He may have had a few loyal ones among the Plattsburg boys, but they were not shouting loud enough for him to drown the jeers, hisses and angry words directed against him by the spectators, and after he let out another one as a sop to Rutland, calling a Plattsburg man out at first and shutting off two of their runs, the official stood in the center of the diamond surrounded by a howling, threatening, mob of players and the target of a concentrated and continuous fire of yells and groans from the frate crowds in the stands, as devoid of friends and favors as if he'd been a castaway on a desert isle in mid-ocean. One of hundreds he stood, yet to none of these snarling, spitting fellow beings could he turn and say "my friend."

And any man who accepts a salary for umpiring when he has no more capability than Mr. Brown ought to enjoy the same experience.

GOV. DOUGLAS HELD UP.

For Speeding Auto—Constables Say Law Was Violated.

Buzzards Bay, July 11.—Governor Douglas has been held up in this village by the police on charge of speeding his automobile, and summoned to appear before the District Court at Barnstable on July 12.

In the car besides the Governor were Mrs. Douglas and their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Richmond. Mr. Richmond was driving the car. The Governor had given the steering wheel to him just a few minutes before the police stopped the car.

The police have been busy holding up autoists who were thought to be exceeding the speed limit. Governor Douglas and his party, in the Governor's big touring car, were coming up from Monument Beach, running along the Bay Shore to enjoy the cool evening breezes. When the Governor's car entered the eighth-of-a-mile speed test stretch the officers timed it and then gave the signal for the guard down the road to stop the car. Governor Douglas seemed greatly surprised but said nothing.

Baby Born in Street Car.

New York, July 11.—Mrs. Gussie Holender, aged twenty-four, of No. 105 1/2 Eighth street, set out for an outing in Queens County Sunday. On a car she became ill and several women in the car went to her aid. At their request the conductor put the other passengers off the car, the blinds were drawn and the car was sidetracked.

A hurry call for an ambulance was sent to the Eastern District Hospital, but before the ambulance arrived a large crowd had gathered and four policemen were necessary to handle it. When Dr. Cohen appeared Mrs. Holender gave birth to a bouncing boy. At the request of the women he removed her and the child to her home in the ambulance.

SOLDIERS JOIN RIOTS

Governors Ask Permission to Use Rapid-Fire Cannon—Linevitch Prefers Battle—With His Officers He Is Urging for More Time.

New York, July 11.—The Sun has the following cable from London:

The Odessa correspondent of the Standard says alarming reports have been received from various places in the governments of Kherson, Poltava, Ekaterinoflav and Taurida. Seventeen extensive farmsteads within 30 miles of Odessa have been burned and pillaged in the last 10 days. The peasantry demand half the owners' lands.

On Sunday peasants met the owner of 6,000 acres, about 45 miles from Odessa. He had obtained a company of infantry from the nearest small garrison to expel the invaders, but the soldiers fraternized with the peasants. The land owner then came to Odessa to obtain a company of military, but the governor refused to let him have the soldiers, saying they would follow the example of the troops already on the estate. A woman who owned a neighboring estate offered the peasants a third of her crops, but the offer was refused and she was shot dead. On the following day half the crops were looted.

Within the last few days nearly 40 applications from land owners for military assistance have reached Odessa. The garrison chiefs in other southern centres get similar appeals. Owing to the paucity of readily available troops the district governors are asking for machine guns and for discretionary power in their employment against the peasantry.

The St. Petersburg correspondent of the Telegraph is pessimistic regarding the outlook for peace. He says he is able to affirm categorically that Gen. Linevitch and the commander of each Manchurian army are literally bombarding the czar with reports showing that victory is about to smile on them, and beseeching at least six months more in which to fight. The czar and his advisers have implicit confidence in the generals.
